JAYCEE CARNIVAL OPENS HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Fifth Annual Comanche Jaycee Carnival is coming to town next Wednesday night—and continues Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights—May 8-9-10-11, with a big time planned once again for one and all.

City officials have again okayed the use of the inner section of the north part of the Comanche Square for this annual show—and this portion of the town will assume a carnival holiday atmosphere, with 12 big carnival rides and some dozen booths.

Jaycees will be in charge of the booths—including doll chunking, bottle pick-ups, glass pitch, bingo, jewelry spin, fish pond, barrel toss, balloon darts, hammer and others.

12 Big Rides

Twelve different rides will be featured at this 5th Annual Comanche Junior Chamber of Commerce Carnival Wednesday thru Saturday nights. Carnival events will begin at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, and at 7 o'clock on other nights.

The "scrambler" is a new ride never before featured here, say local Jaycees, explaining that mounted seats criss-cross, while the entire ride follows a circular motion creating an illusion of high speed.

Treasure Chest

Again, Comanche merchants are cooperating with the local Jaycees in bringing the big give-away each of the four nights. A television set, power lawn mower, electric food mixer, and other items will be included in the give-aways. Listed in a special ad, this issue, are Comanche merchants who are helping sponsor this campaign.

Proceeds from the carnival go to the Jaycee Community Improvement Fund, as will include certain amount of the proceeds to the CHS Band, for their "Kentucky Trip."

AREAS IN COUNTY GET GOOD RAINS

Last week-end, from Friday through Sunday, sections of Comanche County received rain, varying from showers to 4 inches. Most sectors received at least a half-inch of welcomed moisture—which helped bring a new wave of optimism that the drought was about to be broken.

Official rainfall in Comanche last Friday night measured .48, and Saturday's total was .02, bringing the total rainfall of the week to an even half-inch. Total rainfall recorded here in April by Weatherman Sam P. Hatchett showed 1.38 inches, and to date this year, a light 2.52.

But some areas, around Sidney, Duster, and some sectors around De Leon received three to four inches of rainfall Friday night thru Sunday afternoon.

Week-end moisture was termed "Just what we needed," and "Just in time" by folks who received it. Stock water ponds became deeper in some sections. The Leon River, Copperas and Sweetwater creeks were running bank full.

Indian Band Gets Second Division Ranking

The final contest of the year is now history. The Indian Band journeyed to San Angelo and returned with two Second Division decisions from the Interscholastic League Judges.

This gives a record for the 1962-63 year of one Superior rating and two excellent ratings. 1st and 2nd and third place awards are not given in the League Competition. In their place is the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd etc. divisions. 1st division is a superior performance; 2nd—excellent, well above average; 3rd—average; 4th—fair; 5th—poor.

What or where Heaven is, I do not know for sure; neither does anybody else. But that does not worry me any. There are so many things here on earth that I do not understand, but nevertheless, I take advantage of them.

I don't understand how a man can talk, or play a fiddle in London, and we can hear and see him in Comanche without any connecting line or other means of contact. But that does not keep me from enjoying a good musical program that originates in Europe.

Roy Taylor was a famous statesman, politician and writer of the early part of this century. He once placed in writing his dream of Heaven and this is what he wrote:

"What Heaven is I know not, but I long have dreamed of its purple hills and its fields of light, blossoming with immortal beauty; of its brooks of laughter and its rivers of songs and its palaces of eternal love.

"I have long dreamed that every bird which sings its life out here on earth, may sing forever in the Tree of Life; and every consecrated soul which suffered the pains of this world may rest among the flowers of Heaven and live and love forever.

"I long have dreamed of opal towers and burnished domes, but what care I for gates of pearl or streets of gold, if I can only meet the loved ones who have loved and blessed me here on earth.

"I will be satisfied if I can see the glorified faces of father and mother and the little baby brother who died among the bursting buds of hope; if I can tangle in my arms again my own darling baby who fell asleep ere her little tongue had learned to lisped. 'Our Father who are in Heaven.'"

"What care I for crowns of stars and harps of gold, if I can love and laugh and sing with my loved ones forever in the smile of my Savior and my God."

Edwin Arnold thought that there were hundreds of serving angels in Heaven ready to carry out God's commands. He wrote:

"Tis written that the serving angels stand Beside God's throne, ten myriads on each hand Waiting with wings outstretched and watchful eyes To do the Master's

Heavenly embassies Quicker than thought, His high commands they read Swifter than light to execute them with speed Bearing the words of power from star to star— Some hither and some thither, near and far And unto these, naught is too high or low Too mean or too mighty, if He wills it so Neither is any creature great or small Beyond His pity, which embraces all Because His eyes beholdeth all which are, Sees without search, and comes without care Nor any ocean rolls so vast that He

Forgets one wave of all that restless sea."

All who attended the meeting of the Comanche Lions Club last week were greatly rewarded by the fine program put on by Superintendent S. H. Fletcher and his two school principals, Troy Norris and Glen Morgan. They explained in great detail the changes that are now being made in the Comanche schools along with many other schools of the state. It must have made every one present feel proud of our school system and the improvements that are underway.

Among other things, Superintendent Fletcher said that next school session, we would gain four additional members of the faculty, and possible five. This is an unusual growth in a school system the size of Comanche.

But what pleased us most are the improvements that are being made in the field of studies and the new methods of instruction being used.

Hereafter 20 units of credit will be required for graduation instead of 18 from the high school, beginning with the CHS freshman class of 1962-63.

For the first time in almost 50 years, a great change is being made in the method of teaching mathematics. This is only one of the many changes that are being made.

Superintendent Fletcher did not say anything about it at the Lions Club, but the news has gotten out that the 1963 Arrowhead, Comanche High School's Annual, has been dedicated to Mr. Fletcher. This is one of the greatest honors that come to a superintendent, especially to one, who is a strict disciplinarian, like Mr. Fletcher, who insists on law and order and makes the pupils and the teachers like it.

While we are passing out bouquets we might do well to give one to the Comanche Lions Club. The Comanche Lions Club was organized in 1924, thirty-nine years ago, and as far as we know has never missed a regularly scheduled meeting except in a few occasions when some other big event was on schedule in town.

Comanche Lions Club meets every two weeks and nearly always has 40 to 60 members present. The programs as a rule, are unusually good, and are both entertaining and instructive. People who do not attend have no idea of how many high class programs are put on by this club, meeting after meeting.

Bill Clemons, who is the retiring Lions Club president, did an unusually good job and he is especially gifted along this line, as well as in many other fields of endeavor. Bill is a graduate of Comanche High School and Texas A&M College, and reflects honor on each of these institutions for the good work he is doing.

We don't know how Bill stands on the matter, but it looks like with or without his consent, Texas A&M College is about to become a University and will permit women to attend that institution.

One argument for making Texas A&M co-educational is that the wives of A&M students and the daughters of A&M faculty members who want to live at home and attend college now have to drive about 65 miles to Huntsville to attend Sam Houston State College, the nearest institution that admits girls.

Up to now, no Negro has ever attended Texas A&M College, although there are many who attend the University of Texas and North Texas State University and some of the other Texas colleges.

One reason perhaps that no colored students attend A&M, is that Prairie View College is not far away. It was established back in 1876 for colored students and now has an attendance of about 2,500 at the regular session and 1,500 during the summer.

Texas Southern University at Houston was established for colored students about 20 years ago and has an enrollment of over 3,000.

For the first time in its 90 years of history, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, has over 9,000 different students in its three sessions in one year. The exact number was 9,014 and includes the summer session of 1962 and the fall and spring semesters of the 1962-63 school session.

Dr. Harry H. Ransom, Chancellor of the University of Texas, who will deliver the commencement address at TCU on May 29, will be awarded a LL.D. honorary degree by TCU.

The University of Texas Law

School will give a two-weeks short course this summer, July 29 to August 9, on Bankruptcy, Federal Income Tax and Anti-trust laws.

Congratulations are due to Sue and Lou Albin, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Albin of Comanche, for their unique distinction of finishing as the No. 1 and the No. 2 scholars of the CHS Senior Class of 1963.

Sue was named valedictorian with a four-year average of 94.44 and Lou was just below. We suspect this is a record unequalled in one family in the United States.

The twin sisters are not only noted for their scholastic ability, but for their prowess in sports, the two having distinguished themselves in rodeos throughout this section of Texas.

We don't know whether this intellectual gift was inherited from their father or their mother, but perhaps from both. Maybe that even Grandpa Clarence Albin is claiming a little of the honor.

Congratulations are also due to Hank Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Durham, for having made the highest grade among the boys with a four-year average of 92.4. Honors are nothing new to Hank, however, as he earned about all the honors he could in Scout work, both at Comanche and Camp Billy Gibbons and even attained some national honors along that line.

We noticed that several of the CHS senior athletes finished among the select who had a four-year average of 90 or better. These included Rusty Durham, who lettered in football, basketball and track, and maintained a four-year average of 91.3. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Durham.

Mary Ann Cloud, all-tournament forward on the Indian Maiden basketball team, finished with a four-year average of 90.8. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cloud.

Dickie Dickson, who came out for nearly all sports before forced out because of surgery, and who gained State-wide fame in 4-H Club work, had an average of 90.3. Dickie is the son of County Agent and Mrs. Angus Dickson, Jr.

Tim Slider, son of Dr. and Mrs. James Slider, ended up his four years in high school with a 90.9 average. Tim, a representative to Boys State, has been active in all CHS student affairs and is an outstanding member of the Indian band.

James Fritts, editor of The "Mad" Arrowhead, one of the best high school annuals ever published at CHS, had a 90.2 four year average. James also was an outstanding FFA worker and was named CHS Friendliest Boy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fritts.

Cheryl Brazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brazier, needs special congratulations for finishing third in the class with an average of 93.1. She was also a member of the band and active student at CHS.

Pat Rush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beaty Jr. was fourth in the standings of the class, with a four year average of 92.9.

Lynne Grimmer, niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sullivan, was next with an average of 92.3. Lynne was co-editor of The Warrior and a cheerleader.

Wanda Abbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Abbey, made an average of 91.7. She has been active in student affairs and was named Band Sweetheart for 1962-1963.

Thelma Lancaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lancaster, had an average. Thelma was an active FFA'er and held an outside job most of her years in high school.

Congratulations are also in order to those students, if any, who barely made the required average by hard work and determination, yet did it. Sometimes these kind in the battle of life come out on top.

THIS AND THAT AND A LITTLE BUT OF FOOLISHNESS

It takes but a second to administer a rebuke, but it may take a lifetime for the one who has been rebuked to forget it.

Sign on a Church Door: "You are not too bad to come in; You are not too good to stay out."

You may have heard this before, but it is worth repeating:

"Sometimes when you are feeling important; sometimes when your ego is in bloom; sometimes when you take it for granted that you are the best qualified in the room; sometimes when you feel that your going would leave an unfilled hole, just follow this simple instruction and see how it humbles your soul: 'Take a bucket and fill it with water, then put your hand in it up to the wrist. Pull it out, and the hole that is remaining is a measure of how much pride will be missed.

"You may splash all you please when you enter the water, but stop and you will find a moment that it looks quite different."

Stephenville Editor Pays Tribute To The Life Of Homer Stephen's Mother

The following tribute to the mother of Homer Stephen, Stephenville, was written by Rufus Stephens, publisher of the Stephenville Daily Empire, and appeared in the Sunday, April 28 edition.

Unrestrained Grief

One of the saddest experiences that can come to mankind is the loss of a loved one. Those who have not experienced it find it hard to stand the side lines and understand the emotions of those involved. Regardless of the knowledge that these days of sadness will come and that we know death is certain most of those who have said good bye to a loved one find it difficult to grasp what all means just like everyone else.

Giving up one so near and dear as your mother, or father, or any loved one, is something that brings despair in the worst form. But it does not come as a surprise when we face to face with the loss of one of our children. So often we hear friends and neighbors speak of their grief and how they are in distress with the suggestion that maybe, after all, it is for the best. God's will is done is something we must accept. Yet, that does not stop the piercing pains of grief that thrusts through our hearts in these moments of complete dismay.

As a friend and neighbor of Homer Stephen we have wondered what words would be helpful to him in the sorrow that has been his since he gave up his precious mother three weeks ago. That was one of the saddest partings we have ever observed. The devotion between the two was about as genuine and beautiful as any we have ever known. Homer Stephen was a colorful character, a rugged pioneer and in every way courageous. She faced death with the same bravery and courage that she had known all the years of a life that extended almost 100 years.

Death is something that none can escape. It is coming sooner or later to the home of every man and woman. When it strikes blows will be brutal and hearts will be strained with emotion. Perhaps it is wise that those who have not experienced it might make an effort to prepare themselves for death and that it will bring. However, try you might it is something that is extremely difficult to get ready for.

Homer Stephen has contributed a book, "The History of the Philadelphia Inquirer," to the Fort Worth Public Library in memory of his mother, Mrs. Bessie Case Stephen who died two weeks ago. A bookplate inscribed in memory of Mrs. Stephen will be inserted in the famed Acknowledgment of the contribution was made by Arless B. Nixon, a director in the Fort Worth institution.

Following, Mr. Stephen quotes from an interesting article which he found among his mother's keepsakes after her death:

Things Rare and Unusual

After my mother's passing I found many interest papers, beautiful sentimental gems she had preserved over a long period of years she had copied the following lines more than forty years ago. A footnote stated she didn't know who the author was, neither do I. The moral lesson and the sentiment is beautiful.

Two drummers were seated in a grand hotel one day. While eating they were chatting in a jokeful sort of way. There came a pretty waitress to bring a tray of food. They spoke to her familiarly in a manner rather rude. At first she did not notice or make the least reply. But one remark was made to her that brought tear drops to her eyes. She turned on her her tormentors, her cheeks were blushing red. Approaching as a picture this is what she said. "My mother was a lady and as you would allow and you may have a sister who needs protection now. I've come to this great city to find my brother Jack. You wouldn't dare insult me, sir, if brother Jack were here." The two sat in silence. Their heads hung low in shame. One said, "Forgive us Miss. We meant no harm. Pray tell me your name." She told him and he cried aloud, "I knew your brother Jack. We were soldiers in the Spanish American War in 1898. I never had a better friend. We have been friends for many years and he often spoke of you. Please come and go with me when I go back and if you'll only wed I'll take you to him as my bride for I love you Miss."

According to the story they married and it proved to be a union which God had joined together, which no man could tear asunder and so if some reader enjoys this little life story and smiles it will be because mother copied it more than forty years ago. I doubt if the good things ever die, like the fragrance of the lovely flowers—it goes somewhere.—Homer Stephen, Stephenville, Texas.

Mrs. Masters, daughter of the late Lorenzo D. and Annie Mund Nixon, was born March 9, 1893 at Doss, Gillespie County. She was converted at the age of 21 and was a member of the First Baptist Church in Comanche.

She had made her home in Comanche for the past 15 years, and previously had lived in Mills County.

Youth Rally At Local Church

Plans are underway for a special Youth Challenge at the Congregational Methodist Church in Comanche on Saturday night, May 4, starting at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement from Rev. G. H. Horton.

A special film, "Teenage Rock" reveals the story of how young people have found that life was not in rock and roll but in the rock of Christ Jesus, will be shown.

Rev. Gene Early, pastor of the First Congregational Methodist Church of Brownwood, is to be the master of ceremonies.

"This will be a district youth rally," said Rev. Horton, who in behalf of the local Congregational Methodist Church, extends an invitation to young people of all denominations to come and worship with them Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Durham were Fort Worth visitors Saturday.

DIFFERENT ROBERTSON

Courthouse news last week, caused some embarrassment to a former Comanchean, bearing a similar name.

Hershel Robertson was charged on April 12 with defrauding with worthless check. His name is pronounced the same as Herchell Robertson of Fort Stockton, son of Mrs. Isla Robertson, but is not spelled the same.

SCOTTISH RITE CRIPPLED CHILDREN BEGINS 40th YEAR of SERVICE WITH NEW PLANS

DALLAS—There is a small, dedicated spot in Dallas that has dramatically changed the lives of nearly 25,000 youngsters from nearly every community in the state—and now it discloses bold new plans to do even more.

This is the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, which has helped that many children since it opened its doors 40 years ago. President is John McKee, prominent civic and business leader, who has worked untiringly for years in the interest of the little patients.

Doctors are continuing their dramatic work at Scottish Rite in rehabilitating children who have been crippled by one or more of hundreds of different birth defects and diseases.

But some of the vast energies which for years went into the rescue of polio victims, for which Scottish Rite Hospital became famous, are now being put into studies of congenital malformations, or birth defects.

Hospital officials announce that several new case studies have been begun this year that may help shed light on why some 6,000 Texas babies every year are born with defects.

Although always oriented to medical investigation and education as well as treatment, the newly announced study impetus amounts to an additional service that Scottish Rite is adding to its more traditional job of helping crippled youngsters to lead normal lives.

"It is our conviction that Texans want and rightfully expect that this hospital shall maintain a study program that is bold and dramatic," said a hospital official. "Every one will, we feel, be most gratified as we report on our progress."

Staff physicians, residents in orthopedic surgery and technicians will participate in various phases of the study projects, which will include both basic research and clinical aspects.

The doctors will take experience that dates from 1925 from treating and rehabilitating youngsters with congenital deformities into the new program, it was pointed out, and patients of the present and future may be able to give the specialists vital new clues while the youngsters are being helped.

Scottish Rite Hospitals was founded by a group of inspired Masons, and is run by contributions and bequests from all over the Southwest and the nation. "There are only three simple criteria for admission by crippled children from anywhere in Texas, regardless of race, creed or color: They must be under 15; they must be able to be helped to become self-sufficient; the parents must be unable to afford this complete treatment elsewhere," Halbert J. Hopper, administrator, points out.

"Scottish Rite Hospital is completely free. There is no way that parents of patients can pay for the invaluable care that they get," Mr. Hopper added.

One of the nation's most respected orthopedic surgeons is chief of staff of the hospital, and the most prominent specialists from throughout the Dallas area help the active staff, when needed.

There are also 12 other highly trained workers, including nurses, physical therapists, bracing makers and even two teachers—for the 70-bed hospital has a full-time, accredited school to assist in educating youngsters who must stay a long time, or who must come back often.

Many crippled youngsters enter the hospital for the first time pitifully hobbling or unable to walk at all.

After their treatment is over, whether it be from a brief stay or therapy extended over many years, they become improved, useful, happier citizens.

As It Looks From Here

OMAR BURLISON, M. C.
17th District, Texas.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Needed in our country today are old fashioned debates on the subject of the mission and purpose of the Federal Government. Debates do occur in and out of the Congress, but only piecemeal, as applicable to a particular issue. At the end of such a discussion, the participants can usually be identified as liberal or conservative, although the issue may be influenced by factors other than purely on the basis of philosophy.

As originally conceived, the purpose of our National Government was to provide the necessary protection from external forces and the essential order among internal forces, to guarantee individual liberty to flourish and be exercised.

Obviously the central government has responsibility for our national defense. We, as individuals, or grouped together in organization, could not do it. In fact, the 13 original Colonies banded together for their own protection. Later, the same need was urgent, which was the major influence in the formation of our Government created under the Constitution.

The power and authority invested in a government for the purpose of maintaining internal order and authority in those things relating to the general welfare, are open to a broader interpretation than those powers vested in the Federal Government relating to external matters. Hence, the issues in many instances can become vague and blurred by interpretations placed on such powers in the light of what is considered to be present day needs.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist as to the consistency of including or excluding any particular power to provide internal order, there should be no doubt as to the nature of the authority contemplated and intended for the Government. The Federal Government was clearly to play the part of the "umpire" and not a "participant" in purely domestic affairs. Its role was to insure fair play—not to permit the imposition of one individual against another or a group of individuals against another group. In other words, it was to protect against fraud and wrongdoing. It was not conceived, however, to guarantee the economic or social success of the individual or any group of individuals, not to mitigate the failure of those unsuccessful in their particular endeavor.

If, as contended by some, our Constitution and the Bill of Rights do not meet present day needs, then this basic instrument should be amended as it has been been done 25 times in our history. To amend our Constitution is cumbersome and slow. That is exactly what was intended when the provisions for its changes were made. It guarantees against hurried decisions and requires the sentiment of the people of the various States, as expressed through the State Legislatures. Our Constitution leaves remaining can produce up to 3,000 pounds per acre. The extra amount of leaf surface accounts for the difference in increased production. Plants with enough leaves produce efficiently just as the tractor firing on all cylinders will pull its capacity load.

Proper use promotes the accumulation of cover and litter necessary to get water into the soil and prevent erosion. It's the rain you keep that counts. Cover and litter also reduce soil temperatures and evaporation. On bare or near bare land when soil temperatures go over 105 degrees, plant growth is reduced and may even stop with higher temperatures.

Root growth, length, and the ability of the plant to take moisture from the soil remain favorable with proper use. With continued heavy overuse, root systems may be shortened and growth may stop for certain periods. During mild dry weather, the plant may be unable to take use. Individual animal performance was better and expenses were less. These two items make the big difference. Less labor was required with proper use. A ranchman with more profit and more leisure time says he enjoys life more.

If You Own Farm Properties - - -

... it's a good time of the year to check up on your insurance. For one thing, it's hail and windstorm season and there are grass fires all about us. Are you adequately insured—the house, furniture, barn, machinery and other valuables? Down on the farm there is no such thing as a partial fire loss.

When it's all over everything is gone. Our Farm Department insures everything except the ashes—we pay for them. We might save you some money—let us try!

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Taylor, 302 N. Pearl St., were recently honored on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Charles Wesley Taylor and Miss Mary Dikes, daughter of C. C. and Callie Dikes, were married February 5, 1913 by County Judge J. T. Hartley on the banks of the San Saba River at San Saba. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor lived for five years after their marriage in San Saba County, before moving to Arizona. After residing there for 19 months, they moved to Comanche County, where they settled in the Cotton Grove community. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor moved to Comanche in 1944. Mr. Taylor is a retired farmer. The Taylors are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. W. W. Vineyard of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Paul Fisher of Phoenix, Arizona, and a son, Cecil Taylor of Abilene. The Taylors have 12 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor say they want to thank the many friends and neighbors for calling, and for the wonderful gifts received.

Grain Sorghum Yields To Be Limited In Area Unless Nitrogen Added

Yields on grain sorghum will be limited in this area in 1963 unless nitrogen is applied to the soil.

Dr. Aaron Baxter, rural development specialist for Texas Power & Light Company, said nitrogen can be applied sidress, about five inches deep in the soil and should be banded about 10 inches to the side of the row. Baxter said sidressing should be done before sorghum reaches a height of 10 inches.

In Williamson and Hunt Counties demonstrations in 1962, yields and profits were increased appreciably following the application of nitrogen to sorghum crops, he stated.

Baxter said grain sorghum requires about 110 pounds of nitro-

Library Lines

The choosing and dedicating of suitable Memorial Books is an important service of the Comanche Public Library.

If you should like to give a book in memory of a friend or loved one call Mrs. Joe Waring or Mrs. Bill Wilkerson. They will place a card in your name at the funeral home and write a note to the family. A suitable book will be purchased and a donor's card will be pasted in the front of the book — stating the name of the person who gave it and the person for whom it was given.

nutrition is also an im-portant factor in the mental life of the general popula-tion. Any American who visits part of Africa will go away with the feeling that he lives in a hell. He will see more poverty-stricken people here in a day than he will in a life-time in the United States.

every disease of the temperate climates plus most of the tropical diseases are seen in this part of Africa, but some diseases of the civilized world have not arrived there.

During four years of stay in Africa, the American who collected this data said that he saw no appendicitis, gallbladder disease, stomach ulcers, spastic diseases, nor coronary diseases among the Congolese.

Any type of measure to control disease in the Congolese is difficult, says Dr. Dickerson, an American physician who spent many years among the African natives.

He participated in the management of two smallpox epidemics in that country and described the problems involved in carrying out ordinary vaccination for smallpox as difficult.

On the day set for the vaccination, many people escaped by way of forest paths, known only to local people.

There were many villages in this tribal area where the medical assistants in other tribes dared not enter for fear of cannibalism.

County Social Security Monthly Checks Total $92,843

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Comanche County now top $92,843, R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager of Social Security in Abilene, said today on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase 11 percent in beneficiaries and 13 percent in dollar amount over the corresponding period last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the recent changes in the law and to the growth of our aged population," Tuley said. "As most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter, there is no longer any doubt that social security benefits are helping to stabilize the income and spending power of many residents in Comanche County."

More people in Comanche County, he said, could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the social security office whenever they have a question concerning their benefits or responsibilities.

As of January 1963, in the nation at large, more than 18 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of $14.5 billion per month.

The following table shows the number and amount of each type of monthly benefit paid in Comanche County, as of December 31, 1962.

Beneficiary	Number	Total Payments
Retired Worker	969	$59,339
Widow or Husband	387	11,860
Widower or Widower	142	7,970

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Associate Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Raise Your Own Feeder Cattle

A surprising development in the midwestern states has been the increase in the number of farmers raising their own beef cow and calf herds.

There was a time, not too long ago, when feeder cattle were cheap and corn was expensive. The situation made for relatively high cost of feed lot gains. Under those circumstances a feeder selling his fed steers had to get a positive margin of from $2.00 to $4.00 per hundred-weight between purchase price and sale price to be sure of a profit for his effort.

I can recall one pessimistic Ohio farmer remarking that nobody ever paid off the farm mortgage by feeding cattle.

All this was before we had hybrid corn and high-yielding small grain including grain sorghums. And this was before we had less expensive nitrogen fertilizer and mechanical corn pickers and grain combines.

This situation is reversed now. We have low cost grain and high-priced feeder cattle so a farmer or stockman raising his own feeders may make a profit on a negative margin.

The increase in the number of operators feeding thousands of cattle every year seems to attest to a considerable degree of confidence in what has been called speculative cattle feeding. There is always, we know, a chance of a temporary over-supply of beef and a break in the prices of finished cattle just as there has been recently.

In cattle production now some of the biggest feeding operations are in the southwest and California where grain sorghums and barley are base feeds but where use is made of many by-products of field crops, vegetable crops and fruit trees. As an example, one large scale feeder a while ago contracted for 4,000 tons of off-grade or surplus dried prunes. These were to be crushed between rollers before being fed to cattle.

A lot of feeder cattle that used to move from the range country to the cornbelt feed lots are now moving west or southwest instead. This accounts for some of the increased interest in home raised feeder cattle in and around the cornbelt.

The trend toward high-grain and even all-concentrate rations means that much of the corn and sorghum crop is wasted by not properly using stalks or cobs but the feed value here can be saved by ensiling the whole plant.

Question: I've always thought of salt as a condiment or flavor improver for stock rations but recently I heard that salt is essential in nutrition, is this true?

Answer: Yes, salt is an essential nutrient providing sodium and chlorine which are vital to livestock and human health. Salt is used in many ways with livestock; as a nutrient, as a carrier of trace minerals and medicines and as a labor saver in controlling supplement intake when self-fed to animals. You might like to write the Salt Institute, 33 North LaSalle, Chicago 2, Illinois for their booklet "Salt for Livestock" which tells all about salt for each class of livestock. It's free.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

My wife and I would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation to the people of Comanche and Comanche County for the way in which we have been received here. We have enjoyed the warm hospitality and friendship extended to us since becoming a member of this community. We want to thank you also for the encouragement and cooperation we have received with respect to my official position here. We were glad to have been a part of this community, and able to do our small part in its civic affairs. I want to thank the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their confidence in me, when they elected me president of this fine organization. We deeply regret moving from here, but due to certain circumstances we feel it is in the best interests for this community and ourselves that we do. We appreciate the attitude and concern of our many friends in this matter and we want to assure you we leave here with no malice or ill feelings toward the fine people of this community. We will always remember and carry in our hearts the things we have enjoyed here, and wish you all the best of luck. —Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Long.

Waco Man Becomes Member of Texas Highway Commission

AUSTIN, April 17—J. H. Kuitgen of Waco today took the oath of office to officially become a member of the Texas Highway Commission.

Kuitgen, long a prominent good-roads backer, was earlier appointed to the post by Governor John Connally and confirmed by the State Senate. He will serve a six-year term.

Kuitgen joins Herbert C. Petry Jr. of Carrizo Springs and Hal Woodward of Coleman on the three-member Commission which makes policies to guide the Texas Highway Department. Petry is Chairman of the Commission.

A successful automobile dealer in Waco since 1936, the new Commissioner is president of Bird-Kuitgen, Inc., Huaco Motors, Inc. and the Huaco Corporation and is a director of the First National Bank of Waco, Texas Life Insurance Co., and many other business enterprises. Born and educated in Chicago, Kuitgen first came to Texas as an Army pilot during World War I. His civic activities include past terms as president of the Texas Good Roads Association, the Brazos River Authority, the Waco Chamber of Commerce, the Baylor Stadium Corporation, and the Heart O' Texas Fair Association.

Petry is now serving his second consecutive six-year term on the Commission (first ever to achieve this distinction), the last four years as chairman. A practicing attorney in his home town, Petry is past president of Lions International, Border District Bar Association, and the Carrizo Springs Chamber of Commerce; has been active in the Texas Good Roads Association; and has served on the Governor's traffic safety and economy commissions.

Woodward, who has served four years on the Commission, is a native of West Texas. A former city attorney of Coleman, he is past president of the Trustees of Overall Memorial Hospital, a director of the Coleman Board of Community Development, and a director of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation.

Young drivers in 1962 had the worst record of any age group in the United States. Men and women under age 25 represent only about 15 per cent of the nation's licensed drivers, yet they were involved in nearly 29 per cent of all fatal accidents and in more than 27 per cent of all non-fatal accidents.

All applications are to be sent to the scholarship chairman, James Roberts, Andrews County News, Andrews. Announcement of the winner will be made by May 20.

Students who are interested in trying out for this scholarship should talk with their high school principal or editor of the hometown paper, who will be glad to help them with the necessary details.

The winner will receive a $600 scholarship over a four-year period or $150 a year as long as requirements are met.

Two scholarship winners have graduated from college, which will leave five current scholarship holders in West Texas Colleges, two in WTSC and three in Texas Tech.

San Jose Mission, In San Antonio, Among Impressive Historical Monuments

The crumbling ruins of the San Jose Mission in Southwest Texas are among the most impressive historical monuments to be found in the state.

A stretch of 12 miles from the old Presidio of San Antonio de Bexar may still show the ruins of five missions of all ages. Texans or not: La Villita, the 300-year-old Spanish village which has been reconstructed and is open, free, seven days a week; the Spanish Governor's Palace, built around 1749; beautiful Brackenridge Park with its zoo, aquarium and Chinese garden; and four important military installations, usually open to the public.

KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY THE PINK BOLLWORM

Trademark of this pink pest is a rosetted cotton bloom (lower photo). In more than 60 countries around the world, cotton growers have been battling the pink bollworm for many years.

The first attack in the United States was on Texas cotton in 1917.

Pink bollworms hurt cotton yields in several ways. In severe infestations, damaged squares and small bolls are shed. Larvae penetrate bolls and tunnel into the cotton seed, their preferred food. Thus, cotton seed is ruined and the oil is lost. Grade and staple of lint also are lowered by the tunneling worms.

Adult moths are brown and almost an inch across from tip to tip of the wings. Because they are inactive by day, moths are seldom seen. Female moths lay about 200 small white eggs, generally well-concealed on smaller bolls under the calyx. The pupal stage is distinctive; white when first formed, turning to dark brown before emergence. The hind end is short, stout and hooklike.

Careful quarantine efforts have succeeded in limiting the range of this pest to seven cotton states; Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida. Spot infestations in Florida and Georgia have been successfully eradicated. Regulated planting and stalk destruction dates have been important factors in preventing more serious pink bollworm problems.

A new carbamate pesticide is being widely applied both as a dust and in spray formulations. According to growers, Sevin insecticide controls pink bollworms and knocks out other major cotton pests as well.

Pest control experts emphasize that the combination of sound culture practices and planned insecticide applications can minimize the pink bollworm threat.

Comancheans Attend Historical Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dixon, Comanche, were in Jefferson, Texas, last week to attend the historical pilgrimage, staged annually by the Wise Garden Club. Known as the bayou city, Jefferson is also known as the "Cradle of Texas History." It was the principal center of steamboat traffic immediately before and after the Civil War. The city retains the charm that characterized its pioneer settings, and occupies a unique place among first towns of Texas.

Visitors were given a choice of tours to see the old Southern mansions, furnished with priceless antiques and personal treasures of the city's cultural past. Other places of interest included Jay Gould's fifty thousand dollar private railroad car, old steamboat landings, iris gardens, the historical museum, apothecary country home, the old cemetery, and century old business buildings. The Excelsior Hotel was pointed out as being one of Texas' most glamorous landmarks. Its old world courtyard is typical of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon attended the "Diamond Bessie Murder Trial," a stage play presented by local talent. It was held in the Jewish Synagogue, a building kept in its original state of structure. The murder trial actually took place about 1887. Characters were dressed in pioneer costumes, and participants included the county attorney, mayor, an army colonel, men and other county officials. Thousands of visitors from Texas and other states.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

IF YOU KNEW WHAT HE KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING THE 1963 TOTAL PERFORMANCE FORD

Ford is traditionally the nation's Number One police car. The reason: Total Performance!

When it comes to cars the police don't take chances. Put yourself in a State Trooper's shoes. Every day you must patrol hundreds of miles in your cruiser. Mileage and time grind into a man and his machine, but when the bell rings you've got to be ready. Chase. Turn. Corner. Quick stop. You've got to be able to do it all if you're going to do your job.

Listen to a trooper list the reasons why he prefers a Ford and you realize how difficult it is for any car to measure up to his standards. The car must be strong... it has to stand up to big mileage. It must be silent... when you practically live in a car a rattle can sound like a kettle drum. It must be swift... powerful enough to catch any car on the road. It must be sure... dependable even in the face of the unexpected. Strong. Silent. Swift. Sure. A four-word outline of total performance. The police demand it. That is why they choose the total performance Ford. Why should you settle for anything less?

Whatever your special demands and needs, the total performance Ford is the car most likely to satisfy you all the way down the line. You can prove this for yourself.

First, look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's, and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance could roll up so many impressive wins.

Second, before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery - if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance.
